

Sign up Page

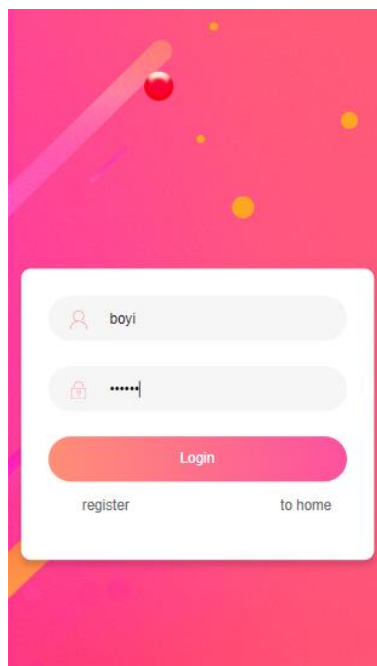

A mobile app sign-up form with a white background and a thin black border. At the top, there is a back arrow on the left and the text "sign up" on the right. Below this, the form contains several input fields: "avatar:" with a camera icon, "username:", "phone number:", "password:", "password repetition:", and "gender:" with a dropdown menu showing "Male" and a right arrow. At the bottom is a blue "submit" button.

Users can register an account through the sign up interface. Users can upload images to set passwords, gender and more. Users can log in after registration.

Login Page

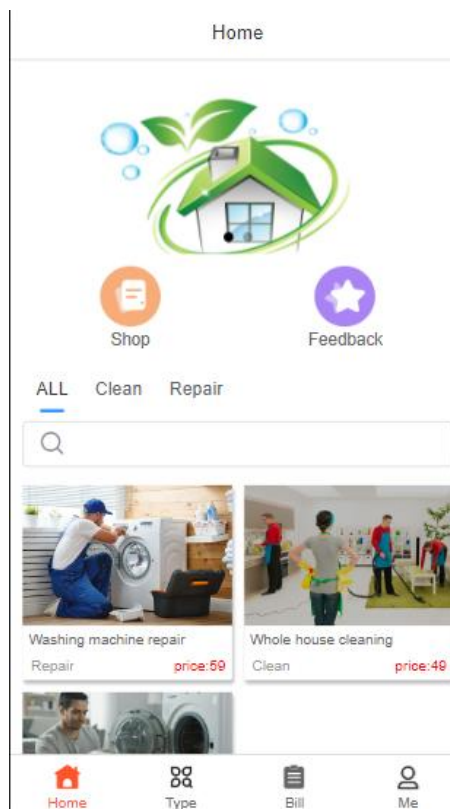

After registration, the user can log in with a username and password.

A mobile app login screen with a vibrant pink background featuring abstract geometric shapes and floating yellow and red circles. A white rounded rectangle in the center contains the login form. It has two input fields: the first with a person icon and the text "boyi", and the second with a lock icon and masked characters "". Below these is a large, rounded "Login" button with a pink-to-orange gradient. At the bottom of the white box are two links: "register" and "to home".

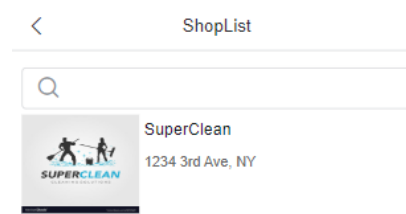

Home Page

After the user logs in, the user will enter the Home Page. Users can make reservations and other operations on the main interface.

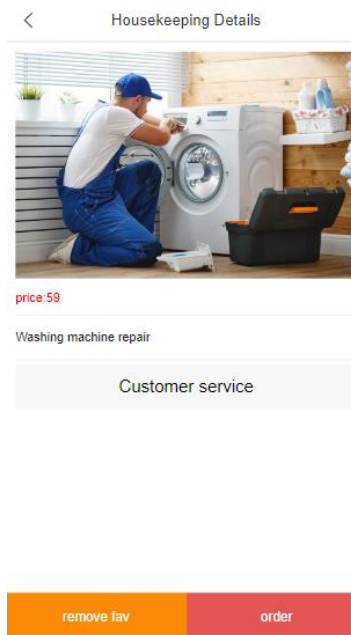

Shop Page

There is a Shop button in the upper left corner of the Home page. Users can view service provider information here.

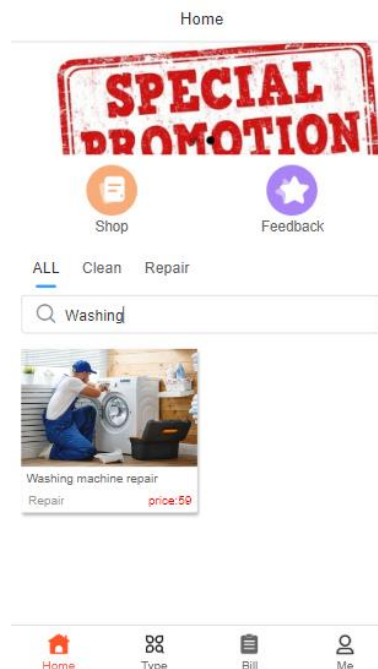

Service Information Page

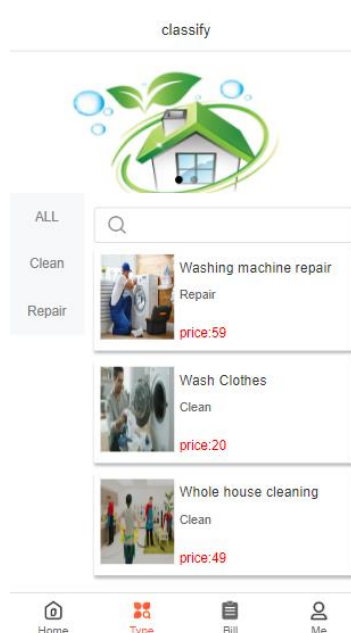

In this interface, you can view the specific information, description and price of the service. Users can book services on this page, and users can add their favorite services to Favs.

Search Bar

In the later stage of this APP development, there will be a large number of services on the Home Page. So this APP has developed a search bar on the main interface. The search bar facilitates users to search for the services they need. This makes it easy for users to quickly find the services they need.

Service Classification

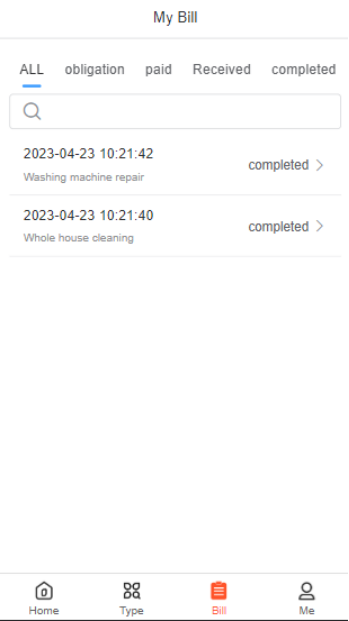

The purpose of categories is the same as that of the search bar. This is to facilitate users to search and view the services they need. In many cases, users need to view all services under the service category for comparison between services. Users find the most cost-effective service for them.

Order Page

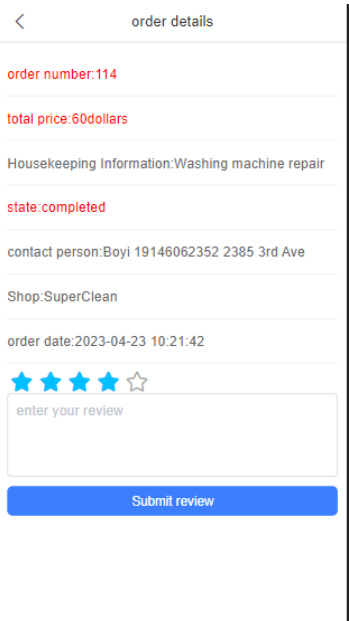

Users can make service reservations on the order interface. On this page, users need to provide contact information, booking time and some special requirements.

Order Information

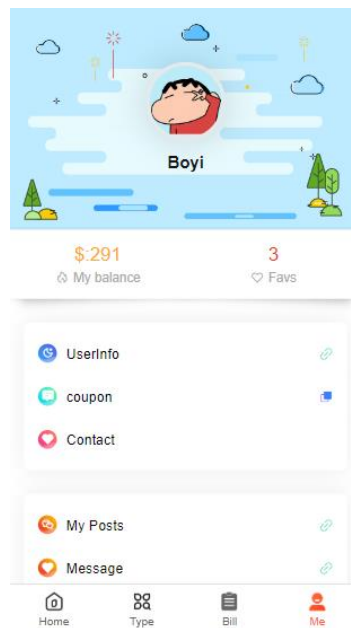

Users can view their reservations, order time, order price, and current order status on this page.

Order Feedback

In this interface, users can evaluate service orders through stars, and users can add text comments.

Personal Information

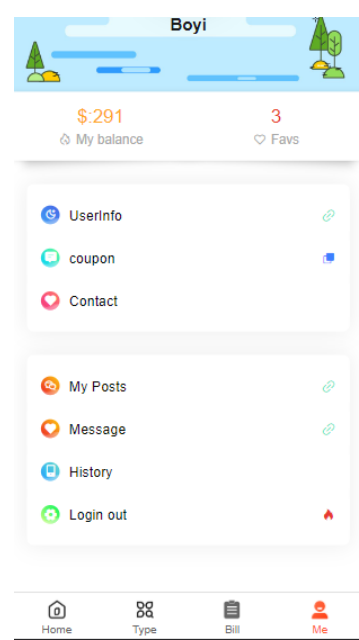

Users can recharge and change personal information and account passwords on the personal information interface.

Modify Personal Information

A screenshot of a 'personal information' form. It has a back arrow and the title 'personal information' at the top. The form includes a 'Choose Avatar:' section with a cartoon character. Below are input fields for 'username:' (containing 'Boyi'), 'phone number:' (containing '19146062352'), and 'password:' (containing ''). There is a 'gender:' section with radio buttons for 'male' (selected) and 'female'. A blue 'submit' button is at the bottom.

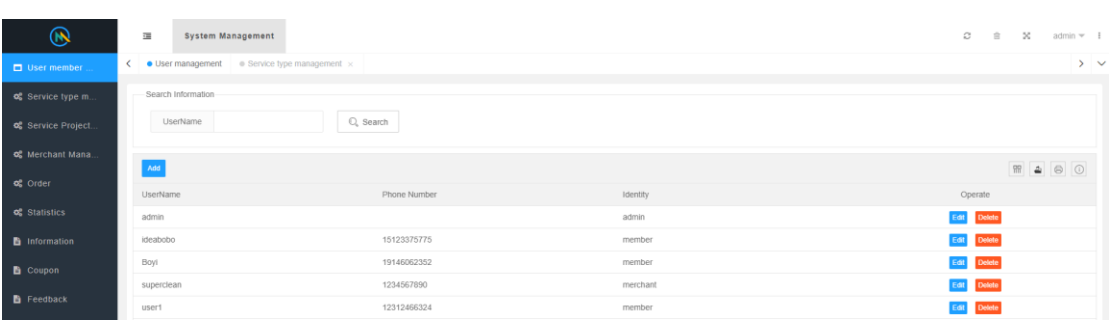

Users can modify phone number, Username, password and gender in this interface.

Log out

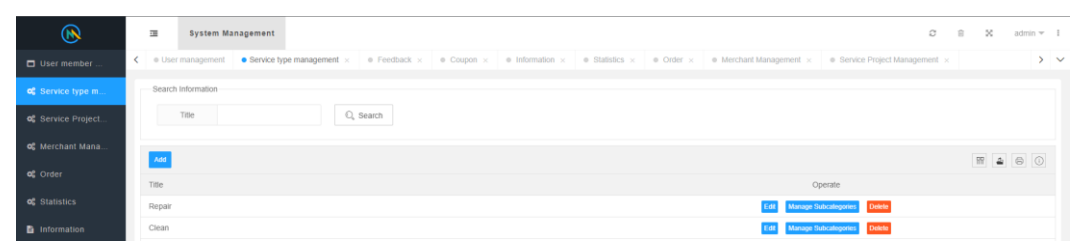

Logout is available at the bottom of the user interface.
